"To me, Nelson Mandela is a real hero. The main reason I admire him is that he fought for equal rights in his country and didn't give up until he had achieved his goal. As a Young man, he became a fighter for equal rights in South Africa, where he courageously resisted the South Africa government's policy of apartheid. His courage only landed him on Robbin Island, One of the toughest prisons in the world, where he was held for twenty – six years. Even so, when he was in prison, he didn't give up the fight.
